

Side Notes: No matter whether a person believes in God or not, I think that part of being a good human being is being able to respect and appreciate a thing that is considered a sacred place to someone. For thousands of years, have built structures and places of worship in an effort to be able to feel and find comfort from the difficulties and trials of life that no one is immune from. No matter whether you call your own sacred place a temple, a church, a mosque, a cathedral, your home or even the top of a mountain, I believe that seeking for and finding your own places where you can feel peace is a noble pursuit. For me, this tune is one of my favorites that I feel captures the peaceful feelings I have only found in holy or sacred places. No matter what you might consider your own holy or sacred place, I hope this tune is one that helps bring a peaceful, calm spirit.

I Love to See the Temple

Janice Kapp Perry
Arr. JASON TONIOLI

Reverently

mp

6

11

16

Arrangement © 2024 Tonioli Music, LLC

Used by Permission

© 1983 Janice Kapp Perry